WHAT THE ELECTION RESULTS MEAN.

Anyone who thinks to get a line on the election to be held next year from yesterday's results is likely to be disappointed. The one thing clear is that, when the people want reform they will have it. It must be real reform, though. The bogus article which was offered in San Francisco for example, was turned down good and hard, while the real thing, presented in Philadelphia, won without a struggle. In New York, where Jerome represented a genuine effort to clear the graft rubbish out of the municipality he was elected over all opponents, running as an independent candidate.

The election of Eugene Schmitz the triumph of the entire United Labor ticket in San Francisco should teach the politicians of the old parties a lesson. There has never been such a campaign of mud slinging and lies in the history of the city before. The fight against Kaloch was the closest of all, but Kaloch was an adventurer with an unseemly career behind him, while Eugene Schmitz is a clean, honest man, a native of the State, whose life has been an open book. Against him the Bulletin, Chronicle and Call made a scandalous campaign of vilification. Beginning months ago a grand jury was chosen that for the most part was made up of dummies. The officers of that body undertook to do politics and prostituted the institutions of the law to make capital against the mayor, judges of the superior court and other officials, and especially seeking to destroy the influence of A. Ruef, one of the most brilliant members of the bar and a political leader whose success has aroused the envy and enmity of the has-beens. This grand jury idea was not a bad one, it may be said, although unscrupulous, for it gave the sanction of a legal body to accusations that before had been simply floating in the air. It misled the country press, for one thing, for in the country grand juries are bodies of weight and importance, and the people could not conceive of their using to advance the personal interests of the grand jurors. In the end, however, the rancor of the San Francisco jurors became so evident that the people in the country realized that they had been deceived, and, while they could not influence the result in San Francisco, yet Schmitz had their best wishes.—Miner-Transcript.

valley looking after dead bodies, would it not be more humane and more economical to use the money paid this officer in the erection of guide posts for water holes and wagon roads, and thus do away with the necessity of the official body hunter?
